

Main complaint: A Diagnosis of Enlarged Spleen and Cirrhosis of the Liver (Diffusely Nodular liver). At a prior Cat Scan and ER visit, I was told I was having a pancreatic attack.

With the liver diagnosis, I was a bit overwhelmed as they were wanting me to be put on a liver transplant list. My husband went back to listen to Dr. Jack and Mary's podcast and Dr. Jack's personal story of his pancreas story. After reading about (Dr.) LEE Enzymes we had a strong sense this is where we needed to start.

We ordered our first bottle. I started with 4 each morning on an empty tummy. I noticed my blood sugars leveling out. My energy was coming back and my LARGE bruises that would often appear were not showing up on my body. These bruises were not due to bumps; I am simply not quite that clumsy, and they on occasion would turn large and were quite ugly to view.

Since taking the Longlife Energy Enzymes of which I have not finished on whole bottle and $\frac{3}{4}$ of the second bottle per recommendation of at least 2 bottles, and I was not on therapeutic levels, my bruising is null to void. Now on occasion, I may get a small bruise but it heals quickly and timely with very little color. No deep purples and deep red, and waiting for any signs of yellow in the direction of healing.

I am tickled and will continue my path of finding my "Father created body" as he guides and directs me to help my body heal with the natural ways he has led me. Praise Him.
